

The Catholic University of Eichstätt-Ingolstadt (KU) is a non-state university under church leadership and officially recognized by the Free State of Bavaria. It is committed to strong research and excellent teaching and combines first-class study conditions with an international focus. Eight faculties offer a wide range of subjects for around 5,000 students. The University employs 900 people of different faiths and beliefs. Grounded in the Christian view of human life, the KU aims to create an academic and educational culture of responsibility.

The Chair of Economics, esp. Sustainable Economic Policy at our Ingolstadt School of Management invites applications for a full-time position (100%) as

Postdoctoral Researcher (Wissenschaftlicher Mitarbeiter (m/w/d))

The position is to be filled at the earliest possible starting date, initially for a fixed term of two years, with the possibility of extension for up to a total duration of five years. The place of work will be Ingolstadt. Provided that the requirements are met, remuneration in the private-law employment relationship will be according to the pay grade E 13 TV-L. The successful candidate will have the opportunity and is expressly desired to complete a habilitation.

Your responsibilities

- Applied, policy-relevant research in the field of economics, with a clear reference to environmental economics, the economics of climate change, or other sustainability topics, e.g. labor economics, migration economics or other subjects
- Teaching amounting to 5 semester hours per week (LVS), particularly contributing to the Bachelor's degree program in "Sustainability in Business and Economics", with courses taught in both English and – if possible - German.
- Conceptualization, acquisition, management and processing of third-party funded projects
- Communicating your research results to the general public

Your profile

- Completed doctorate (PhD) in economics or a related discipline by the time of employment
- Degree in economics or a closely related field
- Publications of your research results in internationally-recognized, peer-reviewed journals
- Thorough knowledge of applied microeconometrics and modern methods of applied economics
- Experience with large data sets and machine learning methods desirable
- Very good written and spoken English skills and a willingness to teach in English
- German language skills are an asset, but not mandatory
- You enjoy working in a team and take responsibility for yourself and others

You are encouraged to actively contribute your own research interests to the Chair's ongoing activities in both research and teaching. You will receive support in completing current research projects, publishing them and pursuing your research agenda.

Our offer

- Independent organization of your courses in consultation with the Chairholder
- Collaboration in research and teaching at the Chair
- Networking with economists in Ingolstadt and the greater Munich area

- Attractive and team-oriented workplace in a versatile higher educational environment
- Broad range of internal and external professional development and continuing education offers
- Welfare benefits in the public service

Your application

Please send your application with the usual supporting documents (cover letter including your plans for research and teaching, CV, transcripts, job market paper, and contact details of two referees) by e-mail to Prof. Dr. Maria Waldinger (maria.waldinger@ku.de) by May 30, 2025 (please combine all documents in one PDF file). If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Prof. Dr. Maria Waldinger. All submitted application documents will be destroyed in accordance with data protection regulations after the hiring process has been completed.

Please note the KU's privacy policy for the application process. Corresponding information can be downloaded from the KU website at <https://www.ku.de/en/the-ku/job-offers>. By submitting your application, you confirm that you have taken note of the data protection information and the privacy policy.

All employees are obliged to acknowledge the nature and mission of the KU as stipulated in its Mission Statement and Foundation Charter. The University is therefore interested in receiving applications with relevant information in this regard. Other than that, there are no denominational requirements for employment at the KU.

The KU is committed to promoting equal opportunities and aims to ensure that its members are able to balance work and family life. Candidates with severe disabilities who are equally suitable to other applicants will be prioritized.
